Michael, John,

I am pushing DETI here for data. They are pushing OFGEM.... I am sorry I have nothing yet however as an indication, if I can get it, there are (under the non-domestic RHI) 255 biomass boilers (all mainly 99kW). I am really trying for some indication of location and I was on to them again this morning.

Regards
Chris

Dear all

It would be much appreciated if you could all take a little time this week to list new bioenergy developments and note any inaccuracies with this map (attached/linked) which was completed in 2013. La Tene/John Coleman is taking a stand at our conference and the maps are popular and a good addition to the overall conference. Up to now, they have had several responses about updating the map, but mostly for Northern Ireland.

If you have any other suggestions for updating please let us know.

Many thanks

Chris,

Many thanks for the effort. Lets see what comes back. If there is nothing back by close of business next Monday I will just have to put a note on the map.
