Subject: Renewable Heat Incentive - GB Review outcome to be announced in Spending Review

Importance: High

All for info:-

DFP has informed me this morning that in relation to an AME forward forecasting exercise we should not forecast any new AME commitments or offers post March 2016 from the RHI scheme.

Apparantly the outcome of a current review of the Scheme will be announced in the Spending Review. Reading between the lines it would appear that there will be either no or very much reduced funding to scheme for any new offers beyond this financial year.

Andrew,

Am trying to speak to someone in DECC but imagine that'll not be easy. This could be NIRO mark II though closure on NIRO was announced several years in advance – this would be full tilt to nothing in months. The question I'm seeking to resolve at the moment is could we do this? There's already something disjointed about the financial and legal controls of RHI so there could be a scenario in which HMT say, no more money but legally we have to keep accepting new applications. We don't know enough about DECC/HMT intentions at the moment.
