Hi Alan

I will be able to confirm the implementation date for you before the end of the week but it is likely to be Wednesday 18 November. Any 199kWh boilers that you are about to order at this stage would be coming in under the new tariff arrangements.

Regards

Seamus

Seamus

Is there a new date yet for changes in RHI.

We are about to place an order for 2no 199kwh boilers but are unable to inform customer which scheme they will be accredited under.

regards

Alan

Our conversation from earlier refers.

I can confirm that the RHI scheme changes will not now be in place this week as planned. You indicated to me that you had a small number of installations completed and commissioned and just awaiting submission of applications to Ofgem. If these are submitted this week and satisfy the Ofgem criteria etc they will be accredited under the current rates.

I will keep you informed of further developments.
