I am not clear from this why a date is being chosen for a meeting for which a Casework Committee member is not available from the outset – what is the reasoning for that. Are there not alternatives for which everyone would be available ?

Please see email below from Chris.

Eugene, Trevor & Shane,

Due to ongoing issues with the RHI scheme, and the significant level of resource required in dealing with these issues, Stuart Wightman has requested that the EnergyWise Casework follow-up meeting - due to take place 12th February - be pushed back to 26th February. This would allow adequate time to fully prepare all required documentation for the Casework follow-up session.

It would appear at present that the only member of the Casework panel who would be unavailable on this date is Shane Murphy who will be on annual leave that week. I would be content to proceed with the Casework follow-up session on 26th February in Shane's absence. I feel that the integrity of the Casework session would not be compromised as Shane was involved in the initial Casework session and has already reviewed and commented on scheme proposals. His comments, along with the comments of other Committee members, will be addressed in the Casework follow-up meeting.

Are Committee members content with this proposal?

Regards

Chris

Thanks

Linda
