Hi Peter

We spoke. Here's the email from the Forum for Renewable Energy Deployment.

As discussed on the phone, it would be good if CEPA/ AEA could talk to them about the state of the industry/ technology and their ideas about what sort of RHI would and wouldn't work, but without prejudicing the formal consultation that DETI is going to do after the report is published. Maybe you could ask them to give me a call if they want to do that? Mobile is usually best

Dear Sirs,

I am the chairman of the Forum for Renewable Energy Development in Northern Ireland. I have become aware that your company will conduct the Economic Assessment of an RHI for NI. Will there be an opportunity to feed into this?

The Forum is made up of companies across NI that represent nearly 2,000 employees. We were established last year and all the big name companies in NI are members.

Best regards

Connaire McGreevy

Connaire,

The economic analysis work that CEPA is carrying out, on behalf of DETI, is policy development work which will assist in the development of a RHI for Northern Ireland. This work will inform the design of a potential RHI for Northern Ireland, this policy will be subject to a full public consultation, in the normal way, in due course.

We would welcome your views and contributions, and those of the Forum for Renewable Energy Development in Northern Ireland, as part of the public consultation process when it is carried out.

If you have any further questions at this stage I am happy to discuss.

Many thanks,

Peter
