I will provide a more detailed update tomorrow – however meeting with Treasury went ok. Jon Donaghy was not familiar with the detail of the RHI, and was not aware of the pervious ambiguity around the ANME provision. He had been going to include a para in the settlement letter basically giving an AME cap and stating the rest must be covered from our budget – however he took the HMT email which referenced the 5% away with him and was going to look into it with DECC.

He has asked for more info to be sent through – and I will sanitise the DETI lines and add them to our argument around the risk sharing arrangement.

He acknowledged it was a problem – however I wasn't clear that there was much he could do about it.

Not much more on FTC – the response was to deal with issues on a case by case basis – however I pointed out this wasn't helpful from a spending department perspective. We still have no answers on FTC – therefore DETI may have to surrender their £6.1m

Overall - very interesting meeting
