Michelle,

There are a number of spreadsheet models across perhaps a couple of Excel files, each with lots of tabs etc. So when we send them across there will need to be an offer to take someone through them - they are highly bespoke and there isn't a nice summary or landing page to help someone get started.

Before we sent them over we need to do a data protection check. There will be personal data on some of these that will need removed before it goes out of the Department. So we have a bit of checking to do first and it might take Alan a while to do that.

I am on leave today but I have asked Alan Smith to sort.

Shane.

Stephen

Many thanks for the attached. Annex A refers to spreadsheet models which don't appear to have been attached?

Grateful if these could be forwarded

Thanks again

Michelle

Shane

That would be helpful – and I agree the data needs to be cleansed to ensure no personal information is contained in the spreadsheets provided to DoF.

Patrick Neeson is heading up the economist team undertaking the assessment within DoF – therefore grateful if any explanations could also be provided to him.

Patrick and I will make ourselves available as necessary

Thanks – and enjoy your day off

Michelle
