Update from Stuart Whitman, Renewable Heat DETI via Alternative Heat, Fergal Hegarty with regard an update on the proposed changes to RHI tariffs in NI as part of phase II of the scheme. While it is still in consultation and subject to further change, there have been some further developments. Nothing is concrete as yet, DETI hope to make a final decision by late July/early August, with a proposed implementation in early October. The main changes they are expecting to come into force are detailed below:

The 99kW to 199kW tariff is still proposed for October 2015. However, from October 2015, Stuart has also indicated that DETI are proposing to introduce a 2 tiered tariff for all tariff bands, in line with what is in place in GB. Stuart indicated that in the last 7-8 months DETI have overspent on their budget and the reason for this is the operating hours of the boilers in the poultry sector, hence the planned introduction of tier 1 and tier 2 tariffs. This change will only affect new applications after the change comes into force so if any of your clients are considering installing
