

Technical advice

Regulation, legislation, standards, tests, compliance ... it's enough to make your head spin.

We can help you stay on top of the technicalities. Our technical experts will guide you through it all with specialist support for engineering, manufacturing, product, process, environmental, and health and safety issues.

We can provide guidance on:

- Engineering and manufacturing – materials selection, technical requirements, product testing, approval and performance.
- Production line – raw materials, quality control, packaging, regulation and compliance.
- Technical information – industrial and manufacturing standards.
- Health and safety – legislation, risk assessments, control measures.
- CE Marking.
- Quality management systems.
- Building commercial, technical and R&D partnerships across Europe.
- Environment – regulation, compliance and resource efficiency processes.

We may be able to offer financial assistance for projects relating to the areas outlined above. We can also organise a technical audit, which is a health check on your energy, environment and resource efficiency.
