I don't think you have answered a number of points – I'm resending original with extra comments added.

I have tracked a number of questions/comments into the update to the feasibility study. I apologise for the number but I am trying to anticipate any queries Fiona might have when she returns, as I know the turnaround will be very tight.
The letter outlines the costs that Fiona and Matthew discussed at the time we submitted our bid for extra money. On that basis, I would presume she will be content with it provided she is satisfied with the rationale behind the changes in costs, as outlined in the update document.
I am very happy to discuss with Paul if my comments/questions are not clear.
Thanks
Joanne
