I think if we audit the new application and the one with the amendment we can assume all other units on site will have the same issues. However, I suggest we make it possible for AEA to audit one more of the other installations on site if necessary so that if they see anything suspicious they can investigate. I am loath to use all our available audits on this one site. We may want to ask the installation owners to make changes to all their installations as a result of the findings of these audits. If they want to resist this, they will have to make a case to prove that the issues don't arise on their other installations.

Hi Jacqueline,

I have spoken to Ben and Tom regarding this case.

What are your thoughts- there are two accredited and 4 unaccredited (as of yet) installations on site.

I have a total of 6 audits remaining (within my 11 allowance for NI). Do you want me to do 1/2/3 – 6 installations on this site or focus on 2 (as per Tom's email attached). I suggest go with 2 but if we have concerns regarding these two then we may struggle to enforce action on the others if we haven't audited them as well.

What are your thoughts?

Amy

Personal information But there are a number of applications on this site – this is an amendment but they have an application in process on the same site. Please speak to Ben about this before he leaves as he has a close idea of why there may be issues here. They relate to hydraulic separation, pipe lengths and locations etc

Yes, that's fine- I will see if there are another two that anyone wants doing. Thanks to you both for the quick confirmation. Jacqueline- do you have the RHI number of the one you wanted doing?

Cheers

Amy

Amy, if we have done five, could we do three now and save three more for later in the year?

Thanks

Jacqueline
